Salle J 323

11 octobre, 13H 30, Maw DER FOO, University of Colorado, « The Emotional Manager and Entrepreneur »

Abstract: Entrepreneurship researchers have mostly used strategy theories to explain how new firms create capabilities and factors that impact firm outcomes. In this talk, I will discuss how the behavioral approach, i.e., the approach that takes an individual and team perspective, also predicts outcomes of interest to strategy and entrepreneurship researchers. In addition, I will discuss ways in which emotion research provides insights into outcomes of interest to these researchers.

Bio: Maw-Der Foo is an Associate Professor of Management and Entrepreneurship at the University of Colorado, Boulder. He holds concurrent appointments as visiting/guest professor at Ghent University (Ghent, Belgium), Nankai University (Tianjin, China), and the National University of Singapore. At Nankai University, he also serves on the academic committee of the Research Center of Entrepreneurial Management.

He was a co-founder of Startup@Singapore, the largest business plan competition in that country and founding member of Singapore's team to the Global Entrepreneurship Monitor. Maw-Der's research focuses on leadership and emotion management and also to the application of management concepts to understand entrepreneurial processes. These research streams have been published in outlets such as the Academy of Management Journal, Entrepreneurship: Theory & Practice, Journal of Business Venturing, Journal of Applied Psychology, Management Science, and Strategic Management Journal. In 2011, he won the University of Colorado Provost Faculty Achievement Award, a university award recognizing research excellence. He is an active participant in the journal review process, as Associate Editor of Entrepreneurship: Theory & Practice while also serving on the editorial review boards of the Academy of Management Journal, Journal of Business Venturing, and Journal of Management Studies.
